

REHEARSING FOR THE SPANISH PLAYS to be presented by the Hispanic Theater group of the University of Miami are Dr. Luis Rodriguez Molina, director; Miss Gloria Gaston, Miss Mary Gonzalez and Miguel A. Juara. They will appear in "Rosina es Fragil," one of three short Spanish plays to be presented in the Box Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

To Stage Three Spanish Plays

Latin American faculty members and students at the University of Miami are busy with rehearsal for the three short plays to be given by the Hispanic Theater Group, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. These plays, "Mano Santa," "Por Pequenas Causas" and "Rosina Es Fragil" will be given in the U-M Box Theater.

The Hispanic Theater of the university was organized in 1937 by Dr. J. Rilis Owre, then head of the language department, and Luis Rodriguez Molina, who was a student at the university.

When Fred Koch became chairman of the drama group he and Dr. Owre started planning a Spanish theater for the presentation of Spanish and Spanish American plays.

In December 1949, when Dr. Luis Rodriguez Molina joined the University staff, plans were made to present a Spanish play, as an experiment. A play given in January, was such a success that it was decided to expand the Spanish play program.

One of the plays to be presented next week, "Por Pequenas Causas," was written by Jacinto Benavente, Spanish Nobel Prize winner. Taking part in the plays will be Dr. Rodriguez Molina, director; Miss Mary Gonzalez, Miss Gloria Gaston and Miguel A. Juara.

Tickets may be obtained at the Box Theater.
